A picture is worth a thousand words

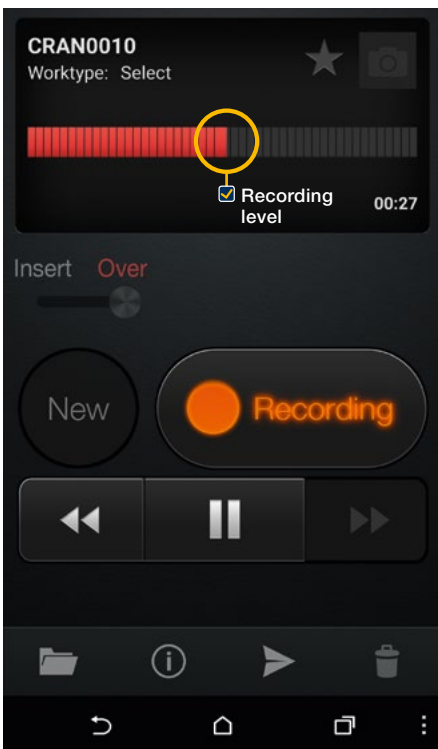

There are many situations in professional life where the spoken word only really gains value together with a visual stimulus to accompany it. And many descriptive work processes where images are indispensable.

Now experts, consultants and assessors can attach a picture to any dictation they make.

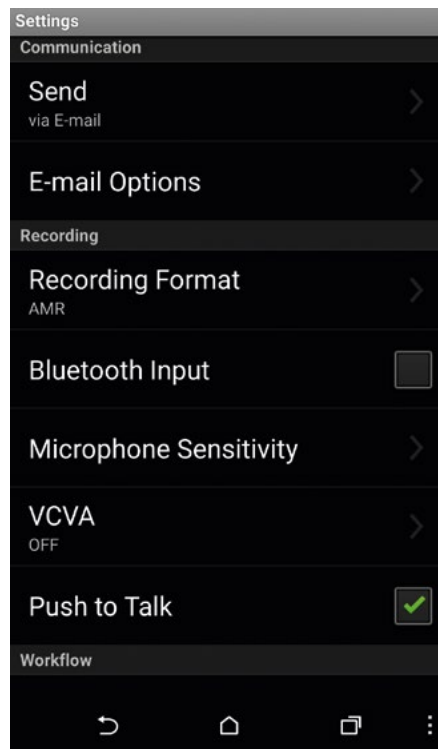

* Olympus Dictation Delivery Service (ODDS) is a charged service by Olympus Imaging Corp. A license must be purchased to become connected with ODDS. This service is only available in certain countries.
